

MASTER OF ARTS WITH LANGUAGE TEACHING EMPHASIS

ROMANCE LANGUAGES: FRENCH, SPANISH

Explore studies in pedagogy, linguistics,
literatures, and cultures.

THE PROGRAM

Mizzou's two-year MA program in Language Teaching (MALT) combines rigorous coursework and hands-on teaching experiences that will prepare you to excel in your future career as a French or Spanish teacher.

Our program offers:

- Personalized learning experience in a collaborative, multicultural atmosphere
- Interdisciplinary coursework that develops dynamic, research-based language teaching skills
- Comprehensive understanding of language history and structure through study of linguistics, literature, and French/Spanish-speaking cultures
- Opportunity to gain teaching experience with potential tuition funding and stipend
- Variety of learning opportunities at a university with 30,000+ students in a thriving college town

CAREER PATHS OF GRADUATES

- Teach in K-12 schools and colleges
- Pursue a PhD in Applied Linguistics, Education, or Educational Leadership
- Work in curriculum development or instructional design
- Advocate for language education
- Work in education, law, government, hospitality, health professions, and international business

Dawn Heston, Director of Graduate Studies, MALT

✉ hestondm@missouri.edu

LEARN MORE: SLLC.MISSOURI.EDU

School of Languages,
Literatures, and Cultures
University of Missouri