

MASTER OF ARTS

ROMANCE LANGUAGES: SPANISH

Interested in studying Spanish?

Mizzou's two-year MA program in Spanish offers an overview of the literatures and cultures of the Spanish-speaking world with a special concentration in Afro-Hispanic Studies.

Learn about AfroHispanic, Latinx, Latin American, and Spanish literatures and cultures

- Attend classes taught by literary, cultural, linguistic, and teaching methodology experts
- Explore topics like gender and race in the Hispanic world from different thematic and theoretical perspectives
- The school's Afro-Romance Institute offers interdisciplinary growth in Afro-Romance Studies.
- Opportunity to gain teaching experience with potential scholarship funding

Career paths of graduates

- Pursue a PhD in Hispanic Studies or Applied Linguistics
- Work in education, law, government, hospitality, health professions, or international business where multilingual skills are needed
- Teach Spanish in schools and colleges
- Provide interpretative skills and cultural background for international companies

Joseph Otabela

Director of Graduate Studies, Spanish

✉ otabelamewoloj@missouri.edu

LEARN MORE: SLLC.MISSOURI.EDU/SPANISH

School of Languages,
Literatures, and Cultures

University of Missouri